DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure should be carefully reviewed to ensure that any and all grammatical, idiomatic, and spelling or other minor errors are corrected.

Claim Objections

Claims 1-16 are objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 1, line 11: "especially for a microscope" is indefinite. Claims 2-16 depend from an indefinite claim. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7 and 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Remer et al. (5,559,631).

Remer discloses a control unit for a microscope to which plural lights [5, 6] are connected to provide mixed light illumination [2]. The control unit [10] controls parts of two lighting units according to user commands. Means for adjusting brightness is controlled [column 4, lines 23+]. An interface [joystick 19] is used for data exchange between the computer [16] and the control unit [10]. A memory device [23] stores user commands. The computer has a memory unit [inherently]. An external image taking device [15] can send signals via bus [18] control the lighting [claim 5]. The control unit may simulate a moving light source [column 4, lines 28-48].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 8, 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Remer.

Remer discloses a joystick to interface between the user and the controller. However, it is well known to use function keys or a foot switch as an interface. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use function keys or a foot switch as an interface, in place of the joystick of Remer to provide input by the user. A foot switch would leave the users hand free, and function keys would be inherently available on the computer keyboard, eliminating the need for additional hardware.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 13-16 and 22-25 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Prior art fails to show or suggest a control unit for controlling the mixed light illumination in a microscope to which plural lights are connected to provide the mixed light illumination, wherein the control unit comprises means for simultaneously controlling respective parts of at least two of the light units according to user commands during at least one time interval further comprising means for detecting a temperature of the lighting units which is at least partially located in the lighting units and either means for generating a warning signal or shutting off the lighting units when the means for detecting exceeds a threshold temperature.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
